I. Background, purpose and development of the Project

1.1. Presentation of the WCO

The World Customs Organization (WCO) is the only intergovernmental organization exclusively focused on Customs matters. With its worldwide membership, the WCO is now recognized as the voice of the global Customs community. It is particularly noted for its work in areas covering the development of global standards, the simplification and harmonization of Customs procedures, trade supply chain security, the facilitation of international trade, the enhancement of Customs enforcement and compliance activities, anti-counterfeiting and piracy initiatives, public-private partnerships, integrity promotion, and sustainable global Customs capacity building Programmes. The WCO also maintains the international Harmonized System nomenclature and administers the technical aspects of the WTO Agreements on Customs Valuation and Rules of Origin.

1.2. Framework of the Scholarship and the WCO Guidance

Custom’s role in international trade has become increasingly important to the economic strength through effective controls, facilitation of commerce and attracting business and investment to the country. Customs must adapt to a changing world if it is to remain relevant and be a positive force within their governments.

Acknowledging the vital role that Small Island Economies (SIEs) could play in global trade, as well as the challenges SIEs face, the WCO Guidance for Customs administrations in SIEs which was approved by the 137th Council in December 2020 recommends potential measures to assist SIEs with integrating into the global supply chain, while strengthening their capacities for effective risk management, trade and travel facilitation, security and revenue collection.

In light of this, the SIE Scholarship targets fifteen (15) working-level Customs officials from SIEs and seeks to provide theoretical frameworks of international trade and business practices, so that they can address Customs matters from a more systematic point of view taking into account those measures from the Guide.

The Scholarship is envisaged to offer twelve-weeks, non-degree Programme and aims at:

- Developing strategic hands-on skills, knowledge in global trade and Customs matters;
- Sharing good practices and exchanging views on how Customs officials could contribute to organizational development and future strategy of Customs;
- Training basic theories and skills of data analytics for improving capacities of participants in utilizing data including data collection, analysis and visualizations;
- Becoming more familiar with the process of improving coordination between and among relevant development partners and donors considering challenges SIEs are facing;
- Inspiring participants to play a key role in implementing international standard and WCO instruments and tools.
Since this Programme aims to deliver practical information and theoretical approaches on Customs and international trade and is going to be run for seven weeks, it is appropriate to have a combination of an academic institute, a Customs training center and the WCO.

1.3. Customs Cooperation Fund of Korea (CCF-Korea)

The Programme will be financed through CCF-Korea. The Fund will cover relevant costs for delivering the Scholarship Programme, including travel costs, admission fees, tuition fees, institutional costs, accommodation costs, subsistence allowance and other approved incidental expenses to enable participants to complete the Programme at the selected University.

This Fund is managed by the WCO. Accordingly, the WCO will administer both the Call for Tender process and liaison with the University on all Programme-related matters.

II. Contents of Call for Tender

2.1. Overview

This Call for Tender asks for a proposal on the academic Programme, covering all student-related matters (travel, accommodation, etc.) for three months in a year for three years.

The Scholarship Programme consists of academic sessions by the University inviting domain experts from Customs and business, and includes field trips jointly coordinated by the Customs authority.

The University is responsible for managing administrative tasks, such as selecting the candidates to be awarded scholarships, inviting the Customs domain experts, taking care of participants, monitoring their performance, arranging financial matters, etc. The proposal should therefore include details of the plan required for participants’ study in the country.

The selected University is expected to run this Project for three years, subject to donor sponsorship. The three-year contract shall be reviewed by the contracting parties before it ends, and can be extended for a maximum of two additional years, based on agreement between the contracting parties, subject to donor sponsorship.

2.2. Programme description

The WCO shall select a University that provides comprehensive outcomes which meet the Project objectives consisting of the two initiatives described below, namely, the Scholarship Programme and the Development Initiative.
2.2.1. Scholarship Programme and its objective

The WCO shall select a university that shares its goals of helping Customs professionals from SIEs understand the linkage between Customs policy and administration and the socio-economic backdrop of developing countries. The university is expected to provide a comprehensive service meeting the Programme objectives.

The University should:

- Optionally endeavor to include various subjects regarding Customs administration such as Customs capacity building, CBM (Coordinated Border Management), Revenue, Tax, Rulings, Appeal, and others in the Programme.

The delivery should take into consideration following:

- Be taught in English. All official documents, reports and assignments should be written in English. The faculty instructors responsible for each course, and the University Programme coordinator must all be proficient in English;
- Foster methods that help participants to learn from each other through seminars, workshops, group projects, and other non-lecture methods extending beyond regular classroom hours;

- The University has to provide the consultation by several faculties for participants to review their topic and to develop it, in order to write their reports.
- Participants have to complete their Scholarship reports (approximately 2,000~3,000 words) until the end of the Programme.
It is recommended that the University establish close partnership and cooperate with public entities and government agencies, including the Customs administration and its training institute, in order to:

- Arrange field trips to public and private sector facilities including official visits to Customs offices and training institutes;
- Invite Customs officials as instructors to deliver the relevant Customs agenda

The WCO shall:

- Provide a session for Leadership and Management Development (LMD) Programme and part of data analytics session aimed at developing the skills necessary for officials to perform their duties effectively, in line with the organizational vision, in a fast-changing trade environment.

2.3. The University’s arrangements for supporting the Scholarship participants

- Providing necessary advice on making their stay in the country comfortable.

The University shall also offer the social support and health care to help participants overcome any problems they may encounter in the course of their studies.

The University shall provide the selected candidates with a letter which certifies enrolment in the Programme. This shall enable prospective participants to apply to the relevant embassy in their home country for a proper visa.

2.4. The University’s responsibilities

2.4.1. Process for selecting candidates to be awarded scholarships

The Secretary General of the WCO will invite Member administrations from SIEs to put forward nominations for this Programme.

Administrations shall arrange for the nominee to submit the duly completed application forms to the selected University, taking into consideration that this Programme targets working-level officials who are currently working for Customs core functions. Upon receipt of applications, the University shall rank the candidates according to its own criteria on academic merit, also taking into consideration the selection criteria provided by the WCO.
It shall provide the WCO with a list of candidates who are expected to complete the Programme successfully, as well as with any other relevant information.

The WCO shall then select the agreed number of candidates and several substitute candidates to be awarded scholarships. The WCO shall notify the University of its decision as soon as possible. Subcontracting is permitted subject to the following conditions:

- Tenderers must indicate in their tenders the amount of the contract (if any) that they intend to subcontract to third parties, as well as the identity and availability of the potential subcontractor(s).
- The service provider must not subcontract to third parties not identified in the tender as potential subcontractors without prior written authorization from the WCO.

Where subcontracting is envisaged, evidence of the potential subcontractors’ ability to perform the tasks entrusted to them shall be included in the tender. Such evidence is the same as that also required from the service provider, as indicated below.

Thus, any direct or indirect contact with a WCO staff member other than the person named in this Call for Tender may, at the WCO’s sole discretion, result in the rejection of the tender without any compensation or formality.

When putting forward a tender, the tenderer shall declare that it is affected by no potential conflict of interest and has no equivalent relationship in that respect with other tenderers or parties involved in the missions likely to be outsourced to it in its capacity as the selected tenderer.
