

Mexico

ARTICLE 2: OPPORTUNITY TO COMMENT, INFORMATION BEFORE ENTRY INTO FORCE, AND CONSULTATIONS

The Political Constitution of the United Mexican States (Art. 8) and the Fiscal Code of the Federation (articles 18, 18-A and 19), provide for the possibility of consulting the authorities and, where appropriate, suggesting changes to the laws or published regulations.

In addition, there are many Committees such as the Customs Operation one or the Customs Facilitation Committee, and there is also the National Customs Operation Consultative Council in which several institutions and organizations involved in the foreign trade activities participate, in order to make proposals on relevant issues for the improvement and agility of daily Customs operations.

Finally, the legal area of the National Customs Agency of Mexico is in constant communication with the representatives of foreign trade operators regarding the changes made to the Customs National Law.